Literacy Link-Leamos Free to Read tutors given tour of new detention center

Category: Community News
Created on Sunday, 25 March 2012 09:51

Volunteer tutors active in the Free to Read project of Literacy Link Leamos were given a tour of the new Grant County Detention Center by Joseph Andazola, Deputy Administrator. The new facility will provide significantly more area for GED, Life Skills, and art classes. Project Free to Read began in the spring of 2011 with a special grant from the New Mexico Coalition for Literacy. Classes are held every day of the week. If you are interested in volunteering, please contact Michelle Detterick program coordinator, at 388-0892. Pictured above from left to right are Ann Simonsen, project chairman Ed Greenberg, Joe Andazola, Sandy Hicks, Bob Cwik, and Thelma Sordyl.
