Literacy Link - Leamos

Posted: 07/07/2011 03:56:11 AM MDT

The New Mexico Coalition for Literacy awarded Patricia Corral the prestigious Student of the Year for the state of New Mexico. The New Mexico Coalition selected Corral from the nominations of 27 literacy programs. Statewide literacy programs help over 3000 adults each year to improve their skills in speaking English, reading, writing, math, computer, pre GED, and life and job skills.

During the awards ceremony of the annual meeting and conference of the coalition, outgoing president Richard Cervantes noted that Patricia's desire and diligence in active involvement in Literacy Link - Leamos has enabled her to reach and surpass her goal. Patricia continues to attend English conversational classes and receive one-to-one tutoring. Her new goal is getting her GED. She is tutoring a hesitant English speaker because she relates to her and understands the reluctance of a beginning student.

Through the help of the tutors and staff of Literacy Link - Leamos that has assisted Corral during the past 4 years, she has completed the certified nursing assistance at Fort Bayard, where she is employed. The literacy program is located in the Public Library at 515. W. College Ave. For information, call (575) 388-0892.
