Become a Member of the NMCL!

An organization's membership can be an indication of its strength. Grantors, accountability monitoring organizations, and members of the public will occasionally inquire about membership. There are many groups of New Mexicans who have a natural interest in supporting literacy: publishing professionals and companies; those whose profession requires a high level of literacy; alumni of New Mexico colleges and universities; employers; and others who frequently encounter individuals with low literacy skills.

Regardless of your interest in adult literacy, we want and need you to join our cause of teaching adults to read! If you have not yet joined the New Mexico Coalition for Literacy as a member, consider doing so today! Send a check or money order to us for the given amount below; our mailing address is listed above. Be sure to write "membership" and the type of membership you are purchasing in the memo line of your check or money order.
